FREE AGENCY APPROACH

◆ FRONT OFFICE & LEADERSHIP

- ◆ Continuity is the strategy. Jacksonville won the AFC South at 13–4 with Liam Coen in his first year, then lost a Wild Card game to Buffalo 27–24 that could easily have gone the other way.
- ◆ Minimal roster moves. Rather than overhaul, the Jaguars took a conservative approach in free agency with only limited external signings, trusting the foundation already in place.
- ◆ Trevor Lawrence secured long-term. The quarterback is locked in on a five-year, $275M deal with $200M guaranteed, giving the franchise continuity at the most important position.
- ◆ The narrative going forward: Can a young core built by Coen repeat their success in a competitive AFC South?

◆ TRADES & MAJOR TRANSACTIONS

- ◆ TRADE Travis Hunter, TE acquired (trade details TBD) — depth at tight end to support Lawrence.
- ◆ SIGNED RB Chris Rodriguez Jr. — the lone significant external free agent addition.
- ◆ DRAFT Limited by previous Travis Hunter trade capital, selected Nate Boerkircher, TE at #56 in the second round — a depth move criticized as early.
- ◆ RETAINED Core roster kept together with minimal departures, maintaining the chemistry that led to division championship.

◆ PLAYER UPDATES & CAMP BATTLES

- ◆ Trevor Lawrence, QB. Playing on an $88M annual average deal and operating as an MVP candidate entering Year 4. The continuity in system and staff under Coen should accelerate development.
- ◆ The defense that won it. Jacksonville's defense was the backbone of their AFC South title run and returns largely intact, a major advantage in the repeat bid.
- ◆ Chris Rodriguez Jr., RB. Added as a free agent, tasked with providing depth in the backfield alongside the established rotation.
- ◆ Nate Boerkircher, TE. Second-round pick competing for depth snaps behind established tight ends.
- ◆ Coen's system maturity. Year 2 of a head coach's system typically sees marked improvement; expectations are accordingly high.

◆ LATEST ROSTER MOVES

◆ THE BOTTOM LINE

Jacksonville built something real in 2025 and trusted it enough to stay conservative in the offseason. Trevor Lawrence is locked in on a massive deal, the defense returns intact, and Liam Coen gets Year 2 to refine his system. The challenge is repeating in the AFC South while facing a potential Super Bowl rematch with Buffalo. This is a team banking on continuity over overhaul.
