

NEW ORLEANS SAINTS INTEL REPORT

2026 training camp edition — Tyler Shough is the unquestioned starter, the weapons around him are all new, and Kellen Moore's offense is about to look different.

◆ FRONT OFFICE & LEADERSHIP

- ◆ Year 2 of Kellen Moore. The Saints closed 2025 winning four of their final five with Shough under center — enough to convert a rebuild into something that looks like a plan.
- ◆ The offense is being rebuilt on purpose. Moore is layering in more under-center runs and multi-tight-end sets on top of his existing motion-and-balance principles. Expect it to look meaningfully different from 2025 tape.
- ◆ Protect the young quarterback. That was the stated logic behind the biggest contract of the offseason, and it drove the offseason's priority list from the first day of free agency.
- ◆ OPEN QUESTIONS The futures of Taysom Hill and long-time DE Cameron Jordan remain among the last unresolved items on the roster.

◆ TRADES & MAJOR TRANSACTIONS

- ◆ SIGNED David Edwards, G (from Buffalo) — four years with $45M guaranteed and a $20M signing bonus. The offensive line investment the front office said Shough needed.
- ◆ SIGNED RB Travis Etienne Jr., TE Noah Fant and LB Kaden Elliss — three starters added in one wave.
- ◆ SIGNED P Ryan Wright (ex-Vikings) — four years, $8M guaranteed, closing one of the roster's genuine holes.
- ◆ TRADE Acquired EDGE Tyree Wilson from Las Vegas during the draft, swapping pick No. 150 for Wilson and pick No. 219.
- ◆ TRADE Sent P Kai Kroeger and a 2028 seventh to Houston for a 2029 sixth.
- ◆ RE-SIGNED QB Hunter Dekkers, 25, with no guaranteed money after an injury-hit UFL season.

◆ PLAYER UPDATES & CAMP BATTLES

- ◆ Tyler Shough, QB. The 2025 second-rounder took over mid-season and justified the pick, closing the year 4–1. He opens his second camp as the unquestioned offensive leader — no competition, no hedge.
- ◆ Chris Olave & Jordyn Tyson, WR. The high-flying tandem Moore now builds around. Tyson's arrival changes the geometry of the passing game.
- ◆ The backfield split. Travis Etienne Jr. cleared 1,000 yards in three of four seasons in Jacksonville. How his workload divides with franchise all-time leading rusher Alvin Kamara is the season's most interesting subplot.
- ◆ Noah Fant, TE. Fits directly into the multi-tight-end packages Moore is adding.
- ◆ David Edwards, G. Anchors an interior that has to hold up for a quarterback still in his first full year as a starter.
- ◆ Tyree Wilson, EDGE. A low-cost draft-weekend swing on a former top-10 pick who needed a change of scenery.

◆ THE BOTTOM LINE

New Orleans spent this offseason doing the unglamorous thing: it bought a guard, a punter, a running back and a tight end, and told everyone the quarterback job belongs to Tyler Shough with no asterisk. That is what conviction looks like from a front office that had none of it a year ago. Moore's offense will run heavier and more under center; Etienne and Kamara will split a backfield; Olave and Tyson give the whole thing a ceiling. The rebuild is no longer theoretical.
